

Private Paradise

Break away from the chaos of wedding planning and head to these luxurious new villas in Goa

Tucked away in tranquil Siolim, Goa is Si-Oul Villas, a trio of conceptual luxury homes in the heart of forested landscape surrounded by banks of the Chapora River. Each private villa is strategically designed to draw the scenic outdoors in. At the Moon House, you will find a unique crescent-shaped pool and a semi-open observatory deck above to host large cocktail and dinner gatherings. At the four-bedroom Earth House, the infinity pool and secluded outdoor terrace face the river with private access to the water. Here, al-fresco dining at the gazebo amid coconut trees is perfect for a quiet luncheon.

Also in Siolim, Igreha Vaddo by Isprava combines six beautiful summer houses in one private community. The three-bedroom homes, designed with classic Goan and Portuguese influences, feature tall archways, glass roofs, antique artworks, and warm wooden interiors. Spend your days by the pool and evenings with music and wine at the bar and terraces. ■

(Clockwise from top left) A bedroom, the observatory deck, and façade of the Moon House; al-fresco dining, and a bedroom at Igreha Vaddo, Siolim.